KAYAN

Choose. Fund. Start.

Kayan's full range of services as fixed-scope, fixed-price products — across every sector a Yemeni business, institution, or family needs, and a dedicated collection for Yemenis abroad. Each product says what you get, who it is for, why it is worth it, and how long it takes. Every price is tokenised, resolved once.

The idea

In Aden today, commissioning professional work is an act of faith. Scope is argued over, prices are invented on the spot, deadlines slip, and there is rarely any recourse if the work never comes. The catalogue removes that friction entirely: a client does not negotiate a brief, they choose a product the way they choose anything else they trust — a fixed scope, a fixed price, a named delivery date, and a managed team behind it, with payment protected from the first day. This is how Kayan sells the hardest thing to buy in this market: the certainty that the work will arrive.

Kayan sells the hardest thing to buy in this market: certainty. A client does not negotiate a brief and hope. They choose a product — fixed scope, fixed price, a named date, a managed team, payment protected — the way they choose anything they trust.

THE PROMISE BEHIND EVERY PRODUCT

1. The same verified team standard, whatever the price.
2. A fixed scope and a fixed price, agreed before anything starts — no invented figures, no moving goalposts.
3. A named delivery date you can plan around.
4. Your payment held safely and released only when you receive the work and accept it.
5. One point of contact, from the first message to the finished result.
6. Checked independently for quality before it ever reaches you.

Why buy from Kayan

Anyone can hire a freelancer or attempt it themselves. Six things make a Kayan product worth choosing instead — and each answers a real fear a buyer in this market carries.

Why it is worth it
It arrives	A fixed scope and a named date, delivered by a managed team — not a lone contractor who may vanish. And if it does not arrive, your payment was never at risk.
It's checked	Every product is reviewed independently for quality before you ever see it. You receive finished work, not a first draft to fix yourself.
Real people, an institution behind them	The work is done by verified professionals with a real institution standing behind them — someone accountable, reachable, and answerable.
One fair price, agreed upfront	The price is fixed and agreed before a single hour is worked. No surprises, no negotiation mid-way, no figure invented on the spot.

Why it is worth it
One contact, start to finish	One person carries your work the whole way. You never chase, never repeat yourself, never wonder who has it.
Built for here	Made by Yemenis who know the market, the language, and the context — work that fits Aden and Yemen, not a template from elsewhere.

Who buys

Seven buyers, each arriving with a different need. The catalogue is built so each finds something made precisely for them — and a first, low-risk product to start with.

Buyer	Who they are	What they need	Where they start
Individuals	A job seeker, a student, a professional, someone who needs a document or a personal project done.	CVs and careers, certified translation, personal documents, portfolios.	Career Launch Pack · Certified Translation · The Winning CV
New founders	Someone starting a business who needs to look serious and get online fast.	Brand, a site, social presence, a business plan.	Brand in 48 Hours · Business Site in Five Days · Business Plan
Small & medium businesses	Restaurants, hotels, clinics, shops, schools — established but needing digital presence, marketing, and systems.	Digital presence, social media, menus and print, booking systems.	Restaurant Digital Pack · Social Media Management · Online Store
Larger businesses	Companies needing bigger builds, brand systems, data work, and strategy.	Platforms, brand systems, market research, data services.	Custom Platform · Full Brand Identity · Market Research
NGOs, INGOs & UN	The humanitarian and development sector — a large, active buyer in Yemen.	Proposals, reports, monitoring, field data, translation, training.	The Proposal that Wins · Field Data Collection · M&E Framework
Government & local authorities	Public bodies needing digital services, reports, assessments, and capacity.	Digital services, reports, needs assessments, training.	Needs Assessment · Report Writing · Training Delivery
The diaspora — Yemenis abroad	People who want to build, help, invest, or get things done at home, and cannot be there to do it.	On-the-ground trusted help, build-home bundles, family occasions, property, remembrance.	The Trusted Hand · Build-Home Bundle · The Family Archive

How they are presented

Principle	What it means
Clear first, clever second	A product's name says what it is before it says anything else. A buyer should never have to guess what they are getting. Wit and warmth are welcome, never at the cost of clarity.
One card, one shape	Every product is presented the same way — name, one line of what you get, who it is for, why it is worth it, the time it takes, the price, and the protection line. A buyer learns to read the catalogue once.

Principle	What it means
Collections carry a story	Signature products group into named collections — the Homeland Collection for the diaspora, the Fast Track for quick-return work — so a related set of products tells one story to one buyer.
The promise on every price	No price stands alone. The protection line sits beside it: your payment is held safely until you accept the work. In this market, that line is what makes the price safe to say yes to.
One institution, many products	However small or large the product, it carries the same mark, the same promise, and the same standard. The catalogue makes a two-day logo and a six-figure platform feel like they come from the same trusted place — because they do.

The full range

Twelve families, 85 products, across every sector a Yemeni business, institution, or family needs. Each product says what you get, who it is for, why it is worth it, and how long it takes. Prices are tokenised, resolved once.

The Homeland Collection

For Yemenis abroad — the one thing no freelancer and no platform can offer: a trusted hand at home. Someone credible on the ground to build a business, handle papers, check a property, hold a family occasion, deliver a gift, or save a family's memory before it is lost — and who sends back the proof it was done. This is Kayan's most defensible range, because it is built on exactly what the institution is: verified people and accountability, where trust is scarcest and needed most.

The diaspora does not lack ways to send money. It lacks a way to trust that something will be done at home, and to see that it was. The Homeland Collection is that way.

Where to lead

How the products are sold

Every product is sold on the same two truths that carry the whole institution: proof, not promises — and choose, fund, start. The catalogue does not advertise services; it shows delivered work and removes the risk of saying yes. The buyer is never asked to trust a claim, only to recognise proof and to act on a protected offer.

THE NARRATIVE FOR EACH BUYER

Buyer	The insight	The hook	The proof that sells it
Individuals	A degree or a skill with no clear route to a job or a place to study.	The gap to a job, closed. The application that becomes an offer.	A real CV that won an interview; a scholarship application that landed a place.
New founders	Starting out, needing to look serious and be online before the money runs low.	Look serious by tomorrow. Open to a crowd, not to silence.	A brand delivered in 48 hours; a site live in five days; a launch that filled a room.
SMEs	A good business that is invisible online while competitors are found first.	Be found, be chosen, fill your tables.	A restaurant found on Google and ordered on WhatsApp; a shop selling online.
NGOs & INGOs	Under pressure to deliver donor-standard work on short timelines.	To the standard donors expect, on the day it is due.	A proposal that won the grant; field data a donor trusted.
Government	Needing credible, non-partisan capability for real public work.	Evidence you can build on. Work to standard.	A needs assessment that grounded a real programme.
The diaspora	Wanting to build, help, or invest at home, and unable to be there.	You can't be there. We can — and we send you the proof.	A property checked and documented with photographs; a family occasion handled from abroad; an archive saved.

HOW THE CATALOGUE PLUGS INTO THE YEAR

1. The Sector Series (campaign CMP-10) spotlights one family at a time — its proof, its verified team, its buyers — and rotates.

2. The diaspora campaign (CMP-05, Build Home From Anywhere) leads with the Homeland Collection.
3. The launch and quick-return moments feature Fast Track products as the low-risk first purchase.
4. The always-on Delivery Ledger (bank BNK-02) is fed by every delivered product — proof accumulating continuously.
5. Every product on the site opens the intelligent intake with the product pre-filled — the catalogue and the site are one motion.

The price

One fixed price a buyer sees and agrees before anything starts — built simply, and never invented on the day. Nothing here is set; every price is a token, resolved once, after which the catalogue prices itself.

Part	What it is	Token
The build	What it costs Kayan to deliver the product to standard — the team's time and any materials.	PH-PRC-BUILD
The Kayan fee	Kayan's net management fee, included in the price — the only part that is Kayan's revenue.	PH-PRC-FEE
The price	A single fixed price the buyer sees and agrees, before anything starts.	Build + fee
The currency	Priced in USD for clarity; settled in local currency at the day's actual rate.	PH-PRC-FX

1. Every price is fixed and agreed before work begins — no figure is ever invented mid-project.
2. The price includes Kayan's fee; the buyer is never surprised by an addition.
3. Nothing here is set. Every product price is a token, resolved once in the decision session — after which the catalogue prices itself.
4. Prices are reviewed as the market and the verified bench move; a product's price is never left to a guess on the day.

How products graduate

The catalogue is not fixed. Products graduate from a bank of ideas as demand and the verified bench allow, and a product that does not earn its place is retired — so the catalogue stays honest.

Step	What happens	Owner
An idea is captured	A repeated client request, a market gap, or a strength on the bench becomes a candidate product.	POS-MD-LEAD
It is scoped and priced	The candidate is defined as a fixed scope with a build cost and a fee — a real product, not an aspiration.	POS-MD-LEAD, POS-FIN
The bench is checked	A product only launches if verified talent can deliver it to standard, dependably.	POS-TAL-LEAD
It graduates to the catalogue	The product is added, presented to the one card shape, and made buyable on the site and on WhatsApp.	POS-BRD-LEAD

Step	What happens	Owner
It earns its place, or it goes	A product that does not sell or cannot be delivered well is retired; the catalogue stays honest.	POS-MD-LEAD

· What this adds to the decision session

Fork	The decision	Why it matters
F-19	Every product price [[PH-PR-]] and the price-build tokens [[PH-PRC-]].	Sets the catalogue's economics; the whole range prices itself once resolved.
F-20	The exact delivery window for each medium and ongoing product.	Sets the named dates the products promise; resolved with pricing and the bench.
F-21	The first Sector Series family to spotlight, and the launch set of Fast Track heroes.	A go-to-market sequencing choice, led by demand.
